

Clearing the Hurdles: Steps to improving working conditions in the global sportswear industry

2008/04/21 Monday 00:00:00 CEST

Based on interviews with sportswear workers in four countries, Clearing the Hurdles shows that violations of worker rights is still the sportswear industry norm, including in workplaces producing for adidas, sponsor of the Beijing and London Games and numerous national Olympic teams, and other key companies in the sector, such as ASICS, Puma, Nike, and New Balance.
